

GOVERNOR DAVEY DEFIES SENATE'S PROBERS

SHIP OF STATE STILL SAILING ON SAME COURSE

Roosevelt today Reaffirms
Objectives of His Administration
REVIEWS FIVE
YEARS AT HELM
Emphasizes Need for Increasing Purchasing Power

WASHINGTON, March 4.—President Roosevelt reaffirmed today the objectives of his administration, emphasizing especially the need for increasing purchasing power.

Discussing at his press conference
the five years of his administration
which ended today, the President
authorized one direct quotation.

On Same Course
"The old ship of state is still on
its same course," he said.

He declared he hoped for wage
and hour legislation at this session
but said it might not be possible
to achieve before adjournment.

He declared the administration
was not retreating in its fight to end special privilege, a fight which
he declared the country, by and large, favors.

He said one of the principal accomplishments of his five years
had been to bring about thinking on
the part of people generally in terms of the rounded problems of government rather than in terms of their limited particular problems.

At the outset of his discussion,
Mr. Roosevelt said there was a tendency on the part of many to confuse policies and objectives with methods.

He said one of the objectives was increased purchasing power.

Some Have Failed
Of the general accomplishments
of his administration, Mr. Roosevelt said there had been an enormous
degree of achievement toward his objectives. Some things, he added,
had failed.

He advanced the belief that control of crop surpluses would sus-tain the purchasing power of 50-60,000,000 people and said there was a growing realization on the part of farmers and those with whom he has talked that this would be beneficial
to them as well as to farm groups.

Western Section Hit by Rain, Snow

SALT LAKE CITY, March 4.—
Rain and snow swept Utah, Arizona,
Nevada and Idaho today, flooding
some sections.

The southern section of Flagstaff,
Ariz., was under water and a 17-
foot flood crest was rolling down
the Verde river toward Phoenix.
Highways and railroad bridges
were washed out in all four states.
Everett, Nid., was drowned near Beatty, Nev., when he tried to rescue two men from the Armagosa
river. Others rescued the two men.

Salem-Barberton Elks Convene Here

Thirty-seven members of the Barberton Elks lodge came here Thursday night for the inter-visitation
program with the Salem organization.
A program of entertainment, an
imitation and lunch were enjoyed.
The degree team of the Barberton
lodge, state champion last year, was in charge of the rites.
The Salem Elks were in charge of
an inter-visitation program at Warren the previous week.

Fifth husband of Kay Francis, $200,000-a-year star of the movies, will be Raven Erik Barnekow, a German baron who is in the airplane business, according to an announcement by the brunet beauty.
Miss Francis was said to have met the baron last July, and the wedding will take place "during the next few months", with a honeymoon in Europe. Miss Francis' real name is Katherine Edwina Gibbs, and she has been successively married to William Gaston, John Meehan, F. Dwight Francis and Kenneth MacKenna.

Salem Joins National Drive To Break Up Used Car "Jam"

$500 In Gifts Lined Up; "Junkers" To Be Destroyed
In Bonfire at Stadium Saturday Night

Salem's automobile dealers are joining the nation's 46,000 retail dealers and distributors in a campaign which will continue from March 5 to 12 to break the jam of
used car stocks which have stymied
new car sales and production.

The drive is known as National Used Car Exchange week and is aimed primarily at stimulating the disposal of used car stocks now in dealer hands.

During the campaign, starting tomorrow morning, three gifts will be given to each purchaser of a used car, including, of course, those who turn in their old cars for used cars
of modern design. These gifts total about $500 in value.

All dealers in the city will join in a big automobile parade scheduled to get under way at 3 p. m. Saturday.

Another feature of this campaign
will be a safety bonfire at 9 p. m.
Saturday on the lot adjoining Reilly
field. Mayor George Harroff will start the fire, in which 15 "junkers"
will be destroyed. Chief of Police Ralph Stoffer will send up a trench
parachute with a flare as another feature of this safety bonfire celebration.

The primary purpose of the campaign is to make known to prospective purchasers the remarkable
used car values which now are being offered by automobile dealers. These dealers are confident that used car
stocks will be reduced sharply as soon as the public becomes aware
of present values.

McNelly Outlines Motor Club's Work

E. D. McNelly of Washington, D. C., field representative of the American Automobile association,
discussed work of the organization,
both nationally and by local groups,
at a Columbiana County Motor
club committee meeting last night
at the Memorial building.

McNelly graphically explained,
with the aid of charts, diagrams
and pictures, the work and effectiveness of the automobile owners'
organization.

He also took occasion to stress
the safety factor in driving, pointing out that speed, in the great majority of cases, is responsible for accidents.

A. P. Morris of Salem, manager
of the county motor club, presided.

Florists of Three Counties Meet Here

Perry McArtor of the McArtor Floral Co., S. Lincoln ave., was host to 85 florists of Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull counties
at his greenhouse here last night.
The gathering marked the second
meeting in a series of horticultural extension sessions being conducted by Ohio State university. Gus H.
Poesch of the Ohio State staff
discussed "Greenhouse Plant Diseases and Their Control".
Luncheon was served following
the program.

TWO ARRESTED IN AUTO THEFT

Youngstown Lads "Crack
Up" On Albany Hill,
Abandon Car

Two Youngstown youths who
stole an automobile in Canton
Thursday night and later upset
their car at the bottom of the New Albany hill, north of here, were taken into custody by State Highway Patrolmen Ralph Perry and
C. W. Cale this morning.

The boys, Stanley Prest, 16, and Edward Cerepak, 15, are believed to have frozen their feet last night
when they slept out in a field in an attempt to avoid capture.

However, when they appeared
this morning at the home of Mr.
and Mrs. Paul Franklin, on the New Albany-Greenfield road, Mr.
Franklin had Martha Clay at the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clay, phone the Salem state patrol.

The officers said they would fingerprint the pair and then turn
them over to police at Canton.

The youths stole the automobile
in Canton last night, apparently as a means of getting back to Youngstown.

When their car struck a guard
rail at the bottom of the New Albany hill at 9 p. m. and upset,
residents there went to the assistance of the youths.

The pair, however, ran up the road and disappeared, leaving the upturned car in the middle of the highway.

SEARCH BEGUN FOR BODIES OF FLOOD VICTIMS

Unofficial Estimates Put Damage at More Than Ten Million

DISEASE FEARED
BY AUTHORITIES

Palm Springs, 120 Miles
East, Lightless; Faces
Food Shortage

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, March 4.—A grim
search through silt and debris for
the bodies of flood victims began
today in storm-ravaged southern California, where 95 persons were known to be dead or missing.

The steadily mounting list of dead
from the $10,000,000 five-day rain storm rose to 70. Twenty-five were known to be missing. Between 25
and 50 others were feared lost.

Damage Estimates Soar
Unofficial estimates of damage
soared well above $10,000,000. Damage to Los Angeles city property
alone—a relatively small part of the five county area swept by the floods—was estimated by City Engineer Lloyd Aldrich at $3,028,000.

Fears of disease grew as the yellow flood waters receded almost as rapidly as they came. The main outfall sewer of Orange county,
serving a dozen populous towns,
gave way and threatened widespread pollution.

Rain piled up a five-day total of 11.06 inches in Los Angeles, and exceeded that figure in some suburbs. Pasadena reported total rainfall of 26.85 inches.

Communications Disrupted

Disrupted communications prevented accurate checks of death
and damage from great sections of the five counties, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange and Ventura.

Authorities estimated 20,000 persons were temporarily homeless,
although many were expected to return to their dwellings early to-
day.

The flood was made doubly furious by its plunge from mountains
more than 6,000 feet high down to sea level in only 30 miles. It left the Los Angeles metropolitan district of more than 2,000,000 population virtually isolated.

It weakened havoc along a 17-mile front—from the city of Ventura on the north to San Juan Capistrano
on the south. Eastern boundary of the flood was the San Bernardino
mountain range.

Film Folk Stranded

Flooded roads in the exclusive Malibu beach district, where many
motion picture stars reside, temporarily marooned some film folk,
including Director Frank Capra,
Actor Neil Hamilton and Madeline
Carroll, actresses.

At Las Flores beach, east of Malibu, at least three houses were washed into the ocean, large sections of the Roosevelt highway, following the shoreline, were washed away, and 20-foot landslides tumbled
onto the road at other points.

Palm Springs, desert resort center
120 miles east here, was reported
without light or heat last night
and facing a food shortage.

American Airlines announced it
would send supplies of food and milk to the desert playground by plane today, and arrange to remove stranded vacationers.

Bossen Will Serve Reformatory Term

LISBON, March 4.—Jack Bossen
of East Liverpool, one of two youths held in connection with an alleged holdup there Wednesday
night, was given an indeterminate
sentence in the Mansfield reformatory
Thursday afternoon by Juvenile Judge H. W. Hammond.

Bossen and Ronsford Rice of Louisia, Ky., were arrested by East Liverpool police a few hours after two theater messengers were held
up and relieved of $325 in ticket
receipts. The messengers, Robert Hissom and Robert Hoyt, were taking the money to a night depository
when the two youths, flourishing
an imitation gun, accosted them.

Rice was bound over to the grand jury, charged with robbery
and auto theft, under $6,000 bond.
Police stated he was driving a stolen car when taken into custody.
Bossen was remanded to juvenile court when he was found to be under 18 years of age.

The stolen money was recovered
by police.

Southern California Floods Leave Scenes of Devastation

Top—A graphic idea of the torrents that roared through streets of Los Angeles during the worst flood in the city's history is conveyed by this photo taken on famous Wilshire boulevard.
Below—Water pouring in tremendous quantities down the hillsides near Los Angeles brought land-slides which washed away the foundations and caused dwellings to collapse. A boy was killed in the landslide which crushed the house pictured here perched precariously on a hillside.

PLAN SERVICES FOR ST. PAUL'S

Wednesday, Friday, Sunday Night Devotions
Are Arranged

A general schedule of Lenten services for members of the parish of St. Paul's Catholic church was outlined today by Rev. Fr. Joseph A.
Mahan, pastor, who will be aided
by Rev. Fr. Herbert Cook, assistant.
Services will be held at 7:30 on Wednesdays, Fridays and Sunday
nights during Lent.

On Wednesday night, there will be shrine devotions in honor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, in charge of Rev. Fr. Mahan, the services including a 10-minute sermon
on the Blessed Virgin.

Emphasize Sufferings
The Stations of the Cross are planned for Friday evenings, in which worshippers will follow Christ
on His journey up to Calvary,
showing incidents of the trip, the crucifixion and death. The service,
Rev. Fr. Mahan points out, is designated to promote meditation
on the scenes of the Lord's suffering and encourage the desire for penance.

School children will observe the Stations of the Cross at 2:30 p. m.
each Friday.

On Sunday evenings, devotions
will consist of the Rosary, sermon
and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The general theme of the sermons will be "Fundamentals
of Religion" in which, Rev. Fr.
Mahan points out, "we feel a practical need because of so much
indifference these days to religion."

Sermons Listed
Rev. Fr. Cook will have the Sunday evening sermons. His series
of subjects will be as follows:

St. Patrick's Play Arranged by Club

St. Paul's Catholic club is planning the presentation of its second dramatic offering of the current season, entitled "Blarney Street,"
the production to be given Thursday, March 17, at the Memorial building.

A lively farce of Irish family life,
"Blarney Street" is announced as a worthy successor to "Here Comes Charlie," presented by the club a short time ago, and an appropriate
play for St. Patrick's day.

The cast of "Blarney Street" will be completed within a few days. Rehearsals are already under way.

In the event the ticket sale warrants, a second performance of the play will be given, in which event
tickets could be used on either night.

SCHOOL SENIORS AWAIT T.B. TESTS

50 Per Cent of Class Will Undergo Tuberculin
Examinations

Tuberculin tests will be given to the seniors at Salem High school
next week, health board authorities
announced today.

Miss Frances Markovich, school
nurse, said 79 of the seniors, or approximately 50 per cent of the class,
have their parents' permission to take the test.

The first examination will be made Monday and the second on Wednesday.

Dr. R. T. Holzbach, city health
commissioner, and Miss Markovich
will have charge.

The "T. B." tests already have been given by the health board officials to third and fourth grade
pupils in the Salem public schools
and St. Paul's parochial school. One active case of tuberculosis was discovered among this group.

Miss Markovich explained that the tuberculin test is positive when a
small red spot appears on the arm,
tested, within 48 hours. "This would mean that the child has been exposed to tuberculosis, but parents
should not be alarmed."

"An X-ray and an examination
will be given to the positive re-
actors to determine if any damage
has been done to the lungs as a result of the previous exposure to the disease. All reports will be turned over to the family doctor," she said.

Christmas seal funds defray the cost of the X-rays and the examinations.

WILL CLEAN UP IF COMMITTEE SHOWS "PROOF"

Demands That Investigators Name Names of Individuals

METCALF RECALLS
MAIDEN INCIDENT

Also Asks Davey Why He Doesn't Act In Truck-
ing Charges

COLUMBUS, March 4.—Gov.
Martin L. Davey promised today an immediate cleanup of state departments criticized by the senate's graft-hunting committee if the probe group could furnish "proof"
of the charges.

In an open letter to "the senate
Russian committee and its unscrupulous lawyer, apt imitators of
the pharisees of old," the governor
said:

Charges "Unfairness"
"our so-called preliminary report (to the senate) on your alleged investigation is conclusive
proof of your deliberate and shameful unfairness. You condemn whole departments with a reckless disregard of your own one-sided
and built-up testimony."

"I demand that you name names
of the individuals whom you
charge with guilt, and name the
specific offenses which you charge.
If you will name those whom
you accuse of guilt, and submit the evidence, we will take care of the necessary housecleaning immediately."

Sen. Verner E. Metcalf (R-Washington), member of the probe
group, said "the committee will hold Davey to the record."

Recalling committee testimony
alleging that a liquor department
inspector, Joseph Maiden of Lorain,
and "raised" the amounts on expense accounts, Metcalf asserted:
"He (Davey) can't be allowed,
after that to say he will clean
house."

Defy Committee
The governor defied the committee to name "a half dozen persons"
in the liquor department—where
the committee said "forgery, corruption, false reports, faked statistics and maladministration" existed—who were guilty of wrong doing. He added:

"Outside of the much-publicized
trucking contract (with Shaw Transport, Inc.), which may have some merit, I challenge you to name the other cases of maladministration, which you hurl so mali-
ciously at the entire official staff,
whom I believe to be entirely capable and conscientious."

Retorted Senator Metcalf:
"He admits there is something wrong about the Shaw Transport, Inc., Trucking contract. He is the governor. And instead of demanding a bill of particulars, why does
he not bring action to dissolve the Shaw company and regain the
money which the state has lost?"

During its investigation, now
terminated, the senate committee
received testimony that Shaw
transport was given a state contract to haul liquor at 17 cents a case, then sublet the business to

FIRE EQUIPMENT

Fire that damaged a building in the downtown business district Wednesday evening served to emphasize the fact, revealed by Fire Chief Malloy on previous occasions, that the fire department needs new ladders. With two 24-foot ladders and one of 30 feet, the latter taken from the old hand-drawn ladder truck when it was abandoned several years ago, the department is handicapped in fighting any blaze of large proportions. It needs a ladder that will scale the front of the highest structure in the city.

At various times the chief has placed this fact before city council. Wednesday evening's blaze might have destroyed the entire building, and possibly adjoining buildings, had it not been for the efficiency of the chief and his department in fighting it with the limited equipment available. City council has many places in which to spend its money, but it would seem questionable economy to save a few dollars for equipment so vitally essential in the work of protecting thousands of dollars in property.

Coming on the heels of a fire prevention survey in Salem, this fire seemed to emphasize the warnings that were issued and discussed Tuesday by fire prevention experts. What caused this fire has not been determined, but it should impress everyone in Salem that fire prevention is a subject for thought throughout the year, not just on special occasions. Carelessness may be a human trait, but it should be eliminated when it comes to removal of fire hazards.

ALL WET

The argument that investigation of state government under Gov. Davey's administration is not entitled to support and that its findings are not worth taking seriously because the investigation has a partisan flavor is all wet.

Those using the argument know it's phony. So do Ohioans at whom it is directed. Therefore, no harm is going to be done by it. Still, it's a shame the theory behind the party system should have been questioned.

That theory is that the majority party is held accountable for its deeds by voters, who look to the minority party for information and initiative. In Ohio, the majority, as represented by the Davey administration, has been placed under attack by the minority, as represented by Republicans, with the tacit support of certain disaffected Democrats.

Voters will demand that the majority offer a defense for the charges which can be brought against it on the basis of testimony given during the investigation. To retort that the investigation is partisan means nothing. To say that no chance was given for rebuttal is not convincing; the best rebuttal would be necessary.

If the party system in politics is worth defending, it's because it offers a means of keeping the majority in line. Ohio has reason to believe the Davey administration has things to explain which, if not explained, should disqualify it from public confidence. It didn't matter greatly whether the investigation lasted till March 28, or stopped on Feb. 28. The fact the investigators struck pay dirt is more important than the amount they put into the record.

LUCKY MR. TROTZKY

Leon Trotsky, who is about to be found guilty again in Moscow, will be a joy and a blessing to some Robert L. Ripley of the future.

In a manner of speaking, Mr. Trotsky has been found guilty of treason and conspiracy dozens of times, executed and interred, yet he lives peacefully today in Mexico City and enjoys reasonable health. Believe it or not!

It's one of the slickest arrangements ever worked out by politicians—sleek for Mr. Trotsky and sleek for the windmill tilters in Moscow who wouldn't know what to do without a scapegoat. Dictatorships thrive on the alibi of persecution, and Mr. Trotsky is the favorite persecutor of the Stalinists.

They can try him over and over again, till their doomsday. It's hard on the poor devils who get dragged into court in his name—they frequently are shot—but it does nothing to Mr. Trotsky, except to make him out a far more important man than he is.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, March 5

A difficult day of many peculiar portents is presaged from the dominant lunar influences. There may be a pronounced tendency to rush headlong into important situations with overzealous and aggressive methods. This may incite enmity, jealousy and the barbed tongue of gossip.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which much may depend on their own capacity for wisdom, restraint and general self-control, as impetuosity, strife, passion and aggressiveness may incite enmity, jealousy, violence and scandal. Be calm and steady in all endeavors.

A child born on this day may be bold, brave, impulsive, turbulent and reckless, having a jealous nature which may keep it in "hot water" and in line for much enmity and treachery by way of reprisal.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following "New York Day by Day" column, by Oscar Odd McIntyre, was prepared by the famous New York writer and distributed prior to his death.)

NEW YORK—Thoughts while strolling: The orchestra leader Andre Kostelanetz's name sounds like a sled scraping raw ground. Why the living theatre hangs on: Al Shean, at 70, with burlesque beginnings, stars in one of the most moving dramas of the year. As a priest.

The utter desolation of the ultra-Japanese shops. Whatever became of The Voice of Experience? Ethel Merman in one of the Spanish high-comb hats. And if Morton Downey hasn't gone and busted out in one of those curly mustaches. My vote for a stunning lady: Mrs. Harold Talbot.

City slicker with a yap barber shop name: "Sport" Ward. For making a column about nothing at all interesting, give me Heywood Brown. Ethel Barrymore seems to have a new lease on life, physically, artistically. The McCrory haberdashery—where Roy Howard gets those shirts!

New gadget for the curb hawks: A key chain with an electric keyhole finder. With all the solemnity among humorists, none has the weebegone look Ring Lardner had. Lawrence Copely Thaw sounds like yanking a champagne cork. Lawrence Tibbett seems to glide along on roller skates.

Memory: The row of hot pumpkin pies on the outside kitchen window sill to cool. Without a Kin Hubbard or Will Rogers, it is surprising the world remains as worth while as it does.

The most magnificent of the seasonal coming out parties was for Nancy Van Vleck. Her mother practically took over the Waldorf dining rooms and told the decorators to go to it. It is reputed to have cost $50,000. Another debutante splurge, said to have cost $20,000, was for Dorothy, the daughter of the M. H. Aylesworths. In other years the highs in coming out affairs were established by Barbara Hutton and Natalie Cole, both of whom married foreign noblemen. I have attended several of the debbie affairs—notably those for Gloria Baker, Dorothy Aylesworth and Natalie Cole—and they certainly made me feel, at least for the evening, that this depression stuff was the bunk.

Samuel Goldwyn, I hear, has thumbs downed the lingual faux pas rigamarole that his publicity department overworked. Goldwyn makes a slip now and then—as who doesn't?—but they are not so numerous and his accent is barely noticeable. Not half the reported grammatical mix-ups are really his. Just for a gag, too, now and then, he would put over a honey. But he soon found that in meeting strangers, especially foreign representatives, they were more interested in trying to catch a blunder than in hearing what he had to say. Goldwyn has proved his artistry and business acumen by becoming one of the top producers of the time, while a lot of folk were trying to laugh him to oblivion.

Broadway has a new name for the jitters. I am not certain of the spelling, but it is pronounced: Aftagazivries. Some say Harry Richman brought it back from London and others say it is a coinage of the Ritz Brothers. And that reminds me that logolepts would find much interest in a copy of William J. Locke's "The Glory of Clementine," which I ran across the other evening. Spread among its pages are the following tongue twisters: Blzygomatie, condottiere, ecogitation, geek, sequelae, transmogrofied, erspertilian, mansuetude and panchichon.

LONGER LIFE

Man has always been in search of eternal youth. There are many legends to this quest. Every school child is familiar with the story of Ponce de Leon, who spent his energies searching for the spring of everlasting life. He discovered Florida but was killed by the Indians before he achieved his heart's desire. Countless others have failed in efforts to find perpetual youth.

During the past two decades medical science has shown the way, not to the mythical "fountain of youth," but to longer life. Science has always concerned itself with the lengthening of life by combating disease. An amazing measure of success has resulted from these efforts. That this is true is shown by the increase in the expectation of life and by the marked decrease in the number of sufferers from many diseases.

The surest guarantee of a long life is the possession of a strong and sturdy body. To have a strong and sturdy body it is necessary to respect it and protect it from unnecessary stress and strain.

Correct Defects
Not all of us are born with strong bodies. Many are weakened by various defects and weaknesses. Whenever possible, these must be corrected.

Proper eating of food rich in certain substances, which are essential for the normal growth and development of the body, is another important factor in preserving youth. But diet alone is not sufficient to ward off disease.

The greatest danger to health and long life is found in the neglect of certain ailments. As a rule these are at first trivial in their nature. Continued neglect leads to real damage to the body. To maintain youth and youthful energy everyone of us must guard against the physical pitfalls of disease.

Periodic visits to the doctor are recommended as a means of warding off disease or attacking it early when there is hope of removing it. Although the quest for the fountain of youth cannot be considered as ended, we are well on the way. It is now known that medical science can definitely eliminate many of the stumbling blocks to health, happiness and long life.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

POLICE AWAIT LEVINE ORDER

Father Makes 4th Appeal; Authorities May Act Again

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 4.—A theory came from police today that, unless the kidnapers of young Peter Levine take advantage of assurance that "the way is open" within a day or two, the father, Murray Levine, would urge officers, now on the sidelines, to pursue the abductors.
Levine, a New York attorney, went on the air three times yesterday and made a fourth appeal through the press to the kidnapers to "make contact with me."
"I am ready," he said, implying that he is prepared to hand over the $50,000 demanded for return of his 12-year-old son who disappeared on the way home from school eight days ago.
A special delivery letter was delivered to the Levine home last night but there was no other outward sign that the kidnapers might have responded.
The case moved clearly within the jurisdiction of the federal department of justice yesterday with the passing of the seventh day since Peter's disappearance. Under the "Lindbergh" law, a kidnap victim is presumed to have been transported across state lines, the abduction thus becoming a federal offense, if he is not returned within seven days.

Soldiers Battle Fort Niagara Fire

FORT NIAGARA, N. Y., March 4.—Five hundred soldiers—the entire personnel of Uncle Sam's historic Fort Niagara—turned out in zero weather today to fight a $150,000 fire which destroyed one barracks and threatened other buildings at this army outpost.
The fire started about dawn, driving 200 partly dressed soldiers out into the cold. A huge cloud of smoke and steam rose above the bluff, overlooking Lake Ontario and Canada, on which the fort is situated.
Volunteer fire companies from the nearby villages of Lewiston and Youngstown arrived, supplemented by a pumper company from Niagara Falls, 10 miles away, aided the soldiers in bringing the fire, which started in the recreation quarters, under control.

Fatally Burned

BOWLING GREEN, March 4.—Coroner H. E. Whitacre said today that Henry Shafer, 82-year-old retired farmer, burned to death last night in a fire which started when embers from his pipe ignited bed clothing in his home southeast of here.

Theater Attractions

Allan Jones and Judy Garland, "sweet and hot" songster stars of the screen, are teamed for the first time in "Everybody Sing," a mad and tuneful story of the lives of a family of theatrical folk at the State tonight and Saturday.

Fresh from their respective triumphs in "The Firefly" and "Broadway Melody of 1938," Jones and Miss Garland have been provided with a vehicle which displays Jones' operatic charm and Judy's swing fever in hilarious and melodious contrast.

Fannie Brice In Cast

Fanny Brice, incomparable comedienne, who captivated Broadway and London for many years, is making her second screen appearance in one of the funniest roles of her long career. She previously appeared in "The Great Ziegfeld."

Billie Burke, veteran charmer of such successes as "Tupper" and "The Bride Wore Red," her two latest pictures, is teamed with Reginald Owen who appeared opposite her in "The Bride Wore Red."

Lynne Carver, beautiful young actress, has been rewarded for the stellar quality of her many supporting roles with one of the most important parts of her career. And Reginald Gardiner—the man who imitates wall paper, carpets and virtually any other oddment under the sun—is cast as a comedy menace who is somewhat short on brains but long on looks and imitations.

The story of "Everybody Sing"

Allan Jones and Judy Garland, singing stars, of "Everybody Sing" at the State tonight and tomorrow.

concerns a young girl who gets expelled from several schools because of her craze for swing singing. Her father is a playwright and her mother an actress. They're a mad lot and without any financial sense.

They send Judy to Europe, but she sneaks off the boat before it leaves and gets a job singing in a night club. With the family chef, Allan Jones, as her aid, she manages to promote a musical show and thus saves her family from financial ruin.

Finale Is High Spot

The finale is the high spot of the picture. When Jones, on opening night, discovers that he has less than a dozen people in the theater, he leads a parade up and down

Broadway until he has 2000 people following him. He leads them right into the theater and thus has a full house.

Nine songs are featured in the new musical. Allan Jones sings "On With the Show," "The One I Love" and "Cosi Cosa." Judy Garland sings "Swing Mr. Mendelssohn," "Down on Melody Farm," "Sweet Chariot" and "I Wanna Swing." Fanny Brice has a riotous comedy song in "Quantity, Dainty Me" and the entire cast of principals, including Lynne Carver and Reginald Gardiner, join in the "Quartet on Rigoletto."

Charles Starrett, Donald Grayson and Iris Meredith are featured in "Outlaws of the Prairie" at the Grand tonight and Saturday.

BRING IN YOUR OLD CAR
DRIVE OUT A BETTER CAR
EASY TERMS

This Saturday morning begins a nationwide event which this country has never seen before. Thousands of used cars—many of them modern cars with the advanced features the industry has developed in the last few years—go on sale at prices far below those of several months ago. Never has there been a national, co-operative movement like this to make better, more modern transportation available to so many people!

This National Used Car Exchange Week comes at just the right time for used car buyers. The season—the prices and the values are all in your favor. This is the week to bring in your old car and drive out a better car.

A great many 1937, '36 and '35 cars are included in this nation-wide sale. Cars have improved greatly in the last few years. If yours is older, you'll find it a real thrill to drive a car with modern style—bigger, roomier body—luggage space—safety brakes—bigger tires—smoother, more powerful engine—better gas mileage. Many of the dealers are offering their best cars with the finest kind of guarantees. If you are driving an old, unreliable car—one that nags you with repair bills and threatens your safety every time you take it out—this is your great chance to own a safer, more modern car.

Your present car may cover the down-payment, and you can pay the balance on easy terms. If you have no car to trade you can still take advantage of the low down-payments and easy terms during this sale. Go early!—before the best bargains are snapped up. Don't let National Used Car Exchange Week pass without seizing your great opportunity to DRIVE A BETTER CAR!

400 IN SEARCH FOR LOST PLANE

Mountain Clue Collapses; Snow, Rainstorms Impede Hunt

(By Associated Press)
FRESNO, Calif., March 4.—A fleet of airplanes and a ground party of 400 men resumed their search today for a lost Transcontinental and Western Air transport and its nine occupants.

Hopes that a clue to the plane had been discovered collapsed last night when a COC detachment, under instructions to examine the area of a large mountainside gash, reported they found nothing of significance.

The search centered in the mountains as far as Castle Peak, 80 miles northeast of Fresno, in a forbidding region of the lower Sierra Nevada.

Impossible flying conditions, and snow and rainstorms which were almost as bad for foot searchers, balked earlier efforts to examine the jagged country.

If the hunt east of Fresno fails, searchers will investigate reports that the plane was heard near Springfield, south of Fresno, in Kern county, southeast of Fresno; near Paso Robles, west of Fresno. All these stories said the plane was heard about 9:30 p. m. Tuesday, about the hour of the supposed crash.

Aboard the plane were passengers Mary Dirlam and his sister, Mary Dirlam, Stanford university students from Mansfield, O.

8,000 Signers Ask Removal of Davey

CLEVELAND, March 4.—L. Leon Shepherd, suburban Lakewood private investigator, said today between 8,000 and 10,000 signatures had been obtained since Monday on petitions demanding the removal of Gov. Martin L. Davey.

Shepherd, listed as complainant, said the petitions are being circulated in all of the larger cities, including Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Youngstown, Canton, Dayton, Akron and Toledo.

"Difficulty in meeting the demand for petition forms is slowing up the work, but we expect to have 100,000 signatures within a week," Shepherd said.

Governor Davey's removal is asked on grounds of "nonfeasance, malfeasance and misfeasance" in office. A minimum of 60,000 signatures is necessary to start court action.

Yoder Improving

DAYTON, March 4.—Lieut. Gov. Paul P. Yoder, brought here from Columbus in an ambulance yesterday for treatment of sinus trouble, was reported in good condition today.

Rescues Children, Perishes Himself

(By Associated Press)

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. J., March 4.—A grandfather who tossed his three small grandchildren to safety
from a second-story window perished today when fire destroyed his six-room frame home here.

The charred body of the victim,
Gusman Parker, 60, later was recovered from the ruins.

His son, Claude, 17, stood barefoot in 14 inches of snow and a temperature of 32 degrees below zero and caught the children. He was taken to a hospital with his feet frozen.

Also in a hospital, suffering from
cuts and burns, was Claude's sister, Margaret, 20, who jumped from the second story after aiding her father
in waking the youngsters, ranging
in age from 18 months to 3 years.
They are the children of a married daughter and were visiting their grandfather.

Chief Joe Lashaway of this Ad-
londack mountain hamlet's volunteer fire department said the blaze
apparently was caused by an overheated stove.

CAMPBELL IS SALEM'S TOURNEY FOE TONIGHT

TOP COLLEGES IN BASKETBALL TOURNEY FOES

Limited To Start Play March 7 In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, March 4.—The first annual national intercollegiate basketball tournament, which will be held here March 7 to 12, will climax the most stirring sport in the history of the court sport in America's colleges and universities.

The elimination meet probably will attract 50 teams from every section of the nation. It will be the first attempt to establish a national ranking of college teams, and is drawing widespread approval from athletic directors and coaches. Sport fans here believe that it will afford the answer to the critics who long have demanded that basketball be given back to the colleges.

The national tournament was proposed last spring by a group of middle western coaches who sponsored a sectional meet here. A national board of management was chosen and Emil S. Liston, athletic director of Baker University at Baldwin, Kan., became chairman. Members of the board began a quiet campaign on behalf of the tournament in their respective sections, and despite an almost complete lack of fanfare and publicity, athletic departments began to show surprising enthusiasm for the idea.

Unlike the A. A. U. tournament, which had a humble beginning and which worked its way to a place of prominence, paralleling basketball's growth in popularity, the college tournament has its inception at the height of the game's status with the public.

Marshall college of Huntington, W. Va., with a basketball team which boasts of 16 out of 17 victories in competition thus far this season, was the first official entry. The Thundering Herd, coached by Cam Henderson, will play several strong eastern teams, including the renowned Long Island university quintet, which also is expected to be an entry here.

Murray State, of Murray, Ky., victorious in 52 out of 53 games during the past three years, is another entry. The Thoroughbreds, ahead in the Southern Intercollegiate conference with 13 wins and one lost, are coached by Carlisle Cutchin.

From the west, the most prominent quintet mentioned is the Colorado university team, starring Byron (Whizzer) White, whose followers contend he is fully capable on a basketball court as on the football gridiron. The Buffaloes are out in front in the Rocky Mountain conference.

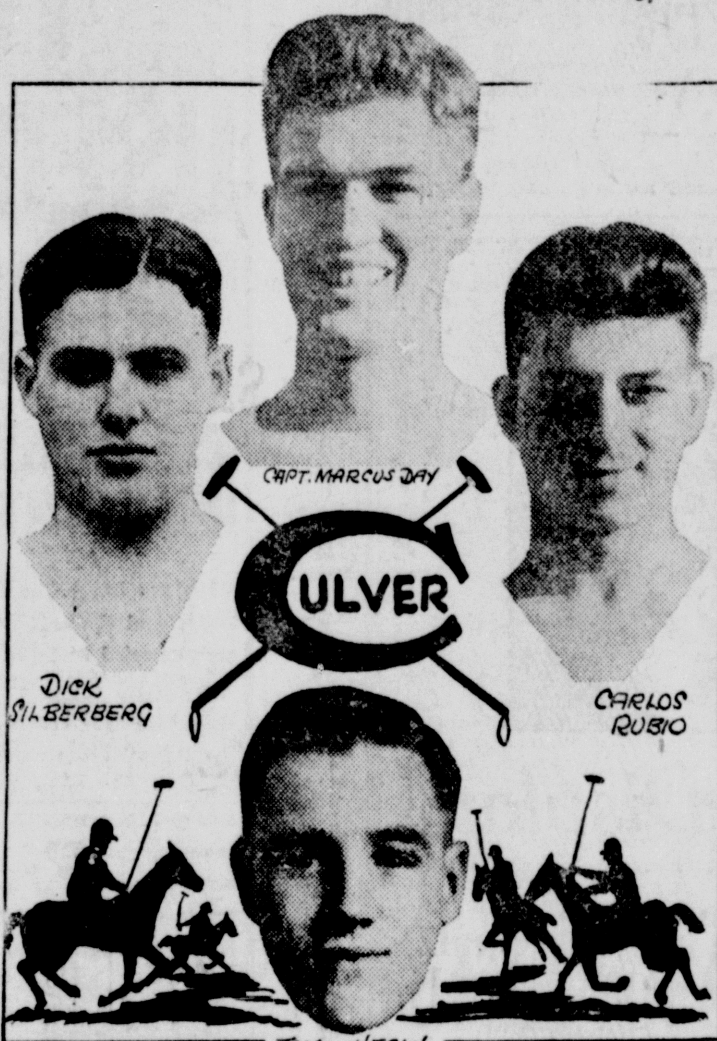

The Missouri Valley conference, now in the stretch of one of the most exciting races, has three teams which may be eligible to compete. Drake university of Des Moines, Ia., Tulsa, Okla., university, and Oklahoma A. & M. are battling for the championship of the circuit and all may qualify on the basis of excellent seasonal records.

Warrensburg, Mo., Teachers and Southwestern Teachers of Winfield, Kan., regarded as the two strongest teams in states which annually produce some of the nation's best basketball units, will be in the fold, according to Liston.

Play Salem Poloists Saturday

CULVER, Ind., March 3.—Here is the indoor polo team of the Culver Military Academy which will face the Salem Polo club in a feature of a four sports program scheduled at the Academy Saturday afternoon. Last year the cadets were runners-up for the national intercollegiate championship.

To date the cadets have won eight of their eleven games and are leading the Junior division bracket of the Metropolitan indoor polo league in Chicago, with two wins and one defeat. The first loss in the Metropolitan league play was suffered Saturday when the

Jimmy Perry To Present Second Show at Memorial Building Tuesday Night; Books Eight Bouts

The complete card for next Tuesday's amateur boxing show at the Memorial building was announced today by Jimmy Perry, promoter.

Bouts in which two of Perry's most promising fighters—Don West and Bill Hamacher—will appear headline the simon-pure program which will get under way at 8:30 p. m.

Hamacher, broad-shouldered, light heavyweight, who kayeed Kid Freconna of Alliance in his last start, will square off against Carl Ormiston of Sebring in the main go.

The scrappy young West, who has four straight ring victories to his credit, will face Vic Warrick of Sebring in the semi-final. This bout is in the 132-pound class.

Six other fighters from Perry's A. C. will take part in the show. They are Dick Scullion, Freddy Fox, Bob Shannon, Eugene Altomare and Leonard Quinn of Salem and Raymond Howell of Minerva.

Scullion will make his first start in the squared circle against Joe Devine of Alliance. Fox, who is one of Perry's most frequently used boys and who has shown plenty of

NEW YORK, March 4.—Theme song for the reformed Maxie Baer: "Baby's Shoes". That blast you hear is only Larry MacPhail, general manager of the Dodgers, in a minor role of the Philadelphia Phillies, who left him to try to deny his hold-out first sacker, Buddy Hassett (A) to the Pirates for Ripper Collins and (C) the Cubs for Phillies for Delf Camilli.

Dr. John Basco, the Barber-ton fight manager, is up to his old tricks again. Some weeks back he had four of his lads on the same card at Canton. All came through with knockouts. The other night the doctor sent three more huskies to the post in Akron and—you guessed it—each responded with a victory via the sleep producing route. A pretty soon they'll be picking the Basco stable as unfair to the leak busting industry. Fritz Crisler has made a 100 per cent hit out at Ann Arbor and all his eastern friends and admirers are rooting hard for him.

WILDNESS HELD AS FELLER AID

Jimmy Foxx Says Indians' Young Star May Win 25 Games

NEW ORLEANS, March 4.—Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians' young pitching kingpin, will go right on trying for perfect control, the opinion of Jimmie Foxx to the contrary notwithstanding.

Foxx, Boston Red Sox slugger, predicted at Miami that Feller might win 25 games this season, with his wildness as a chief asset.

Rapid Robert dissented.

"I'd like to have perfect control," he said at the Tribe's training camp here.

"But if I ever can do that, I want it to be a secret. If I can keep the hitters thinking I'm wild I'll have all the advantages I've got now, and not the disadvantage of being unfoxed to get the ball over."

Foxx held that "when Feller gets better control he will not be so hard to hit."

HEAD OF P. G. A. SEES HAZARDS HURTING GAME

Courses Should Be Made For Average Player, Says Jacobus

SARASOTA, Fla., March 4.—The future growth and popularity of golf depends upon two factors, in the opinion of George R. Jacobus, who has devoted his life to the old Scottish game. They are:

Golf clubs operated strictly as such, to provide golfers with memberships at reasonable prices, and the elimination of unnecessary hazards.

Jacobus, now serving his sixth term as president of the powerful Professional Golfers Association of America, has spent more than 20 years in playing and teaching golf.

Taking time out from his duties at the Bobby Jones club here where he is manager and professional during the winter season, Jacobus outlined what he believes are the two foundation stones for the future of the game.

"Golf clubs operated strictly as golf clubs, giving golfers memberships at a reasonable fee, is one of our greatest needs today," Jacobus said.

"This applies to both public and private courses. Keeping up the social end places a financial burden on many clubs, a burden it sometimes is difficult to bear."

The elimination of unnecessary hazards not only will make the game more pleasurable for the average golfer, but it will cut down on the maintenance cost, Jacobus pointed out.

"The average golfer makes up over 90 per cent of the membership of all clubs," Jacobus said.

"He is the man who foots the bill and is entitled to the greatest possible enjoyment from his game. Hazards such as are found on the average course. When they do, they are penalized for their poor play. The average golfer is in them constantly."

"I cannot see why so much money should be spent by golf clubs maintaining these hazards—and they do cost money—whose only function is to aggravate the average golfer, who does not have the ability, skill and training to avoid them."

"After all, the average golfer plays for enjoyment, exercise and the pleasure of his friends' companionship."

"I think all unnecessary hazards should be eliminated from all golf courses, easing them up and making them more attractive to these average golfers, who form the backbone of this great game."

Cunningham Stamped As Greatest Mile Runner Of All Time After 4:04.4 Race

HANOVER, N. H., March 4.—Glenn Cunningham's second world record breaking feat in less than a week, a 4:04.4 mile, the fastest ever run, indoors or out, today stamped that 29-year-old Kansas as the greatest middle distance runner in board track history.

With the cheers that greeted his erasure of the 1500-meters indoor mark, a 3:48.4 performance, still ringing in his ears, Cunningham came to this little college town last night and improved his own indoor world mile mark, made four years ago, by four seconds.

He also was clocked two seconds under Syd Woodersen's recently approved outdoor record of 4:06.4 but that Britisher's mark will remain in the books until someone runs a faster mile on cinders.

The mighty Kansas started off with Stewart Whitman, Dart-mouth's best miler, five yards in front of him. Cliff Holmes, Bert MacMannis, Robert Yeuell and Fred Upton 260 yards ahead and Harold Wonsom 600 yards.

Cunningham and Whitman raced almost even for the first half-mile, the Kansas running 58.5 and 64 second quarters, before the Dartmouth miler dropped out. Then Cunningham set out to overtake

PASSING NOTED OF 'DO OR DIE' VARSITY SPIRIT

Ohio State Trainer Says Handling Problem Becomes Easier

COLUMBUS, March 4.—The day when an athlete was willing to "do or die for alma mater" has passed but college boys still insist on sports participation when injured, according to Tucker Smith, veteran Ohio State trainer.

"College athletes are not motivated by 'school spirit' to stay in the lineups when injured," Smith said, "but still very few of them go to the bench willingly unless severely injured. This is particularly true in football, where competition to many boys is the means of gaining recognition that will lead to post-graduate employment."

Smith, who has served as trainer at three Western conference schools over a 19-year period, said there were many instances that had come to his attention where athletes had continued to play when good judgment should keep them on the bench.

"The outstanding case I know," Smith said, "is that of one of the best halfbacks to be developed in the Big Ten in recent years. In his senior year this halfback received a fractured ankle early in the season. Then, with a remarkable display of courage, he played the schedule out. The ordinary person would not have attempted to even walk on such an ankle, but football meant plenty to this boy and he wouldn't voluntarily give it up."

Trainers never give headstrong youngsters the benefit of a doubt when they are injured, however, Smith said.

"Many times an athlete will swear to you he is physically fit to play," the Ohio State trainer said, "and the interests of the team would be served by your agreeing, but experience tells you he is bluffing. I forget team welfare entirely and think solely of the boy's own good when I pass upon the seriousness of injuries and make my report to the head coach."

Handling athletes isn't the problem, it once was, Smith said.

"The temperamental athlete who has to be handled with kid gloves is almost extinct," he declared, "the relations of a trainer with athletes is necessarily close and for the most part pleasant. Unless a boy has been 'balled' in high school we seldom have trouble with him."

Smith said a cardinal rule that guides him in all his training work is "never to let myself believe I know more than the team physician."

"There frequently is a tendency to go a lone hand in diagnosing and treating an athlete's injury," he said, "I guard against this constantly. We have a team physician, well versed in all branches of medicine, and there is no reason not to consult him and draw on his experience."

Smith is now completing his ninth year at Ohio State. Prior to coming here he served as trainer for three years at Northwestern and was at Illinois for seven years.

Albert Hirsch of McKinley came through with another record performance in the Cleveland district meet. He cut ninth-tenths of a second off the 100-yard back-stroke mark, set by Woodling of Akron East in 1925, by turning in a 1:05.2 performance.

Premont finished seven points back of Canton at last year's meet. Other schools in the meet are: Cincinnati Hughes, Withrow, Western Hills, Walnut Hills, St. Xavier and Woodard; Akron Buchtel, East West and Garfield, Cleveland Shaw and East Tech; Columbus Aquinas, North and University; Toledo Devilbiss, Scott and Waite; Canton Lehman, Cleveland Heights,

QUAKERS AFTER BERTH IN N.E.O. DISTRICT MEET

Brown's Charges to Play Second Tournament Game Tonight

With a berth in the northeastern Ohio district tournament awaiting them if they win, Coach Herb Brown's Salem High school Quakers engage Campbell Memorial at 9 tonight in their second game of the annual Class A sectional eliminations at Youngstown East High school.

The Quakers, who trounced Niles, 47 to 28, in their first start of the sectional tourney, need only a victory over Memorial to advance to the district finals at Akron.

If they win tonight, Coach Brown's charges will play again tomorrow night in the sectional meet, but the Saturday contest will have no bearing on their right to play in the district tourney.

Providing their triumph over Memorial as expected, the Quakers will play the winner of the Youngstown South-Hubbard game at 9 tomorrow night. This game will be for the championship of the sectional tourney's lower bracket.

Youngstown East and Struthers will play for the championship of the upper bracket, while Scienceville will take on the winner of the East Palestine-Youngstown Ursuline game for honors in the middle bracket.

The winners in each of the sectional meet's three brackets will be awarded trophies. There will be no play-off between the three bracket champions.

An easy winner in their first game, the Quakers figure to encounter somewhat stiffer opposition from Memorial tonight. The Campbell quint has had a "spotty" season, looking both good and bad, but is still fully capable of giving the Red and Black lads a stiff test.

By reason of their better record and advantage in height, the Quakers are top-heavy favorites to win.

The Salem starting lineup is expected to be the same as it was in the first tournament game with Jim Dickey and Glenn (Dinty) McLaughlin at forwards, Max Lutsch center, and Bill Schaeffer and Gilbert Everhart at guards. Ollie Oleka may be used in place of McLaughlin in the starting five.

Other games on tonight's program will see East Palestine meeting Youngstown Ursuline at 7 and Youngstown South facing Hubbard at 8. Palestine and South both won their first games in the tourney, the former whipping Howland and the latter walloping Brookfield.

Woman Tells McCarthy St. Louis Team's Suits Are Too Dirty

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 4.—Here's a new reason for watching those Yankees. Manager Joe McCarthy was stopped on the street by a woman fan who flabbergasted him with, "I was down to see those Cardinals yesterday but I'll be back with your team today. Those St. Louis boys have such dirty uniforms."

BATON ROUGE, La.—Don Schroeder, an 18-year-old Brooklyn youth, is the first "find" of the Giant training season. He pitched for the triumphant "Mancusos" in the first intrasquad game. Schroeder hails from Erasmus Hall, the school that sent the illustrious Waite Hoyt to the majors.

LAKE CHARLES, La.—Connie Mack, satisfied with the showing of the Philadelphia Athletics in their first intracamp game, thinks his charges are to meet the New York Giants tomorrow.

TAMUA, Fla.—The Cincinnati Reds' hurlers, having worked the kinks out of their arms, are beginning to throw hooks. Hollingsworth, southpaw, tried it and wald his bad elbow is going to behave this season. The hurler worked for three hours yesterday.

BRADENTON, Fla.—Casey Stengel's hopes of bolstering his shortstop post with Joe Walsh, Brookline, Mass., youngster drafted by the Boston Bees from Rocky Mount of the Piedmont league, appear lost. Walsh has been out of action for the past two days with an old knee injury that may call for an other operation.

SARASOTA, Fla.—Jimmy Foxx, chagrined over his 1937 batting slump, has arrived at the Boston Red Sox camp six days ahead of time and will work out daily. He and Manager Joe Cronin had preliminary conditioning at Hot Springs.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Pleased by his players' condition, Manager Frankie Frisch will start the St. Louis Cardinals in on a intrasquad practice game menu today.

YOUNGER BAER TO BE TESTED

Buddy To Battle Gunnar Barlund In Important Bout Tonight

NEW YORK, March 4—This is the night when Buddy Baer, the laughing boy, grows up. He fights Gunnar Barlund at the Garden in a 10-round bout that should tell whether Buddy is destined to become a top-light heavyweight in his own right or continue merely to be Max's favorite brother.

At 23, Buddy is believed to be ready for the big push. He stands over six feet, six inches and is bigger in every way than his illustrious brother.

It's been noticeable over at Lakewood, N. J., where they've both been training, that Buddy and Max don't work out together as they once did. Intimates of the camp think Buddy, if he chose, could give the ex-champ a fine lathering. Max fights Tommy Farr a week from tonight in a comeback that figures to be one of the shortest on record.

Barlund is the first established, bonafide heavyweight contender that Buddy has been tossed in with. Though Baer is a slight favorite in the betting, there also is plenty of opinion that Barlund will prove too experienced for him.

One thing known about the younger Baer for certain is that he's willing to fight from the drop of the hat and doesn't do any clowning. He leaves all that to Max.

One-Armed Youths Are Stars On Two Scholastic Quintets

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, March 4—In these days of All-Ohio honorary basketball teams . . . mythical championships . . . and special recognition for high-scoring stars, there should be some sort of award for kids like Lawrence Everhart and Paul Balenger.

Paul, 17, is from York center in Union county. Lawrence is 18, and from Sycamore in Wyandot county.

Each has but one arm . . . but despite the handicap . . . has started this year in the new stream-lined basketball game. They are farm boys. Each lost his left arm in a corn-husking accident, yet each earned a first team berth on his high school team. Both are centers.

Paul has had a bit easier time of it than Lawrence, for the Union county youth lost his arm when only six years old. He had learned to get along pretty well without the missing member long before his high school days . . . and he played on the York center team four years, winning letters last season and this.

He captained his team this year, and in the regular season prior to the county tournament play, he found the hoop for 55 points to lead among the leading scorers in the Union county league.

Lawrence's story has a bit more of a heartstring tug. He started playing basketball as a high school freshman, and served as a second-stringer the first two seasons. The third he was ticketed for a first team job, but a few weeks after about his status . . . he was a regular from the first tipoff. He didn't get many points this season . . . his total reaching but nine . . . but he was the defensive star and one of the big reasons why Sycamore won 12 of its 16 games.

"Women In Love" by May Christie

CHAPTER XXII

Three o'clock that same day, at the finish of the tri-weekly class for executives, Ann encountered Paul Bradley on the seventh floor.

"Will you bring your sales-sheets to my office?" I would like to have a word with you," he said succinctly.

Fear caught her. Was anything the matter? Was she to be fired? A few minutes later, a secretary to his outer office was telling her the merchandise-manager was busy.

Mr. Herman Weiss was closeted with him. She must wait.

That Herman Weiss co-owner of the store with Enochas P. Barclay, did not like her she was cognizant. And it was not because of anything that had happened on the job. It was because of a snub administered to his daughters by none other than her sister Claire.

Claire had been in charge of a contract tournament—for charity, but by invitation only—held in a suite of the swank hotel, where the Weisses resided. The daughters, who had been anxious to buy tickets for the tournament—indeed they had wanted to buy a dozen tickets, and give a party to some of their former friends from Riverside Drive, and swank a bit about having an entrée to "the inner circle."

Which laudable ambition Claire frustrated.

No more tickets are being disposed of," she had told the climbers, looking down her nose at Rachel and Becky "as though we were the under her feet!"

Her mother hand nagged Herman into raising a row with the hotel management about it. Didn't they spend their money lavishly? Weren't their dollars as good as anybody else's? And so forth.

But the eldest Delafield girl was adamant. Tickets weren't getting any tournament full-up.

At that disturbing moment in Ann's cogitations, the door of the merchandise-manager's inner office opened, and Herman Weiss came out.

As he passed, he gave a sharp, annoyed look at Ann.

She thought: "Fired! Because of Claire's snobbishness!"

The secretary said: "You can go now."

She went, in considerable trepidation.

"Bit down, Miss Delafield," as the merchandise-manager took the sales-sheets from her.

She thought: "He looks tired. He hates what's ahead of him, because he sees the injustice of it! But he's got to do what old Weiss wants."

In the office of the merchandise-manager, Ann waited for the ax to fall.

Then—blessed moment! Did her ears deceive her?—Paul Bradley saying: "These sales-sheets are excellent, Miss Delafield. But I know you'd make good. You've got the nerve." He smiled at her kindly.

Nerve?

Yes, she had that.

"How would you like to be assistant-buyer in the Silk Lingerie department? You remember our very first meeting?"

Ah! Didn't she? Forever it was engraved in her mind and heart.

"You know a good deal about silks already, and it's up to you to learn more, Miss Delafield. You must study lace also. That's important."

She thought: "I'd study Chinese if he asked me to!" And her heart seemed to turn right over in her chest.

But what she said aloud was, very demurely: "Thank you sir. If ever I have any time off, perhaps I could drive through Allentown and the other silk mills in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. It would be most—educative."

"You have a car?" he inquired.

"Used to. No more. The crash."

She smiled.

He picked up a pencil from his desk, and, as though absent-mindedly, drew circles on a memorandum pad.

Ought she to leave? Was the interview finished? But something hovered in the air . . . or was it trembling on his lips? She waited.

"Perhaps some Saturday after-vamps everyone she comes in contact with. She chases them. It isn't fair."

Thus Brenda Selz to Renita Parrish, adding spitefully: "And she's writing her own ads for the Sunday lay-out, too! I saw her this morning as I was passing the Advertising, in with Gordon Gavin in his cubicle, and their heads together, as thick as two thieves!"

Said Renita, unexpectedly, and staunchly: "She has a right to go to the Advertising. And if she can give Gordon pointers, why not? Where's the harm?"

"So" Brenda raised black eyebrows. "You're singing a different tune? I thought you hated her? After the way she carried on with Gordon at the dance—"

"She didn't," Renita interrupted hotly. "She was all taken up with Paul Bradley. And I wouldn't be a bit surprised if he's crazy over her."

"It's your who's crazy!" Renita said. "You're the one who's being vamped away from you right under your nose. I try to tip you off and you fly out at me—"

"I'm on to you, Brenda," said Renita, "you're darned jealous of Ann Delafield because she's young, pretty, works like a demon and is an all-around good sport. That's what!"

"Tell it to Gordon Gavin!"—as she glared at the younger girl.

"I will. I'm seeing him tonight. He's taking me to the movies. When you get as far as that with Paul Bradley, let me know, and I'll save up for a wedding present!" Renita went off, laughing.

Ann was dressing for a birthday party. Rosalind Barclay—granddaughter of old Tom Barclay, of Barclay & Weiss—was having a celebration at Il Rococo. Friends since they had been tots at kindergarten Ann had been invited to the festivity at the night-club.

"It's time you stepped out darling and had a good time," Bernice, now Mrs. Frederick Brandon, very much married and extremely happy with her Freddy (strange as that may seem—was spending a few days with her family, her better half having been summoned to Chicago on a lucrative job of interior decorating.

"Yes, I've been working hard. But I adore it, Bernice."

"Humph!" Bernice swung her round. Ann looked lovely in a little-girl gown of Alice Blue chiffon, shirred of skirt, with a Hawaiian lei of forget-me-nots that were excellent imitations of the real thing lying in misty contrast against the whiteness of her bosom.

"You're far too pretty to slave in that wretched store. But it won't be for long," Bernice remarked sagely.

Ann stared at her.

Said Bernice, meaningly: "Don't look so surprised. I felt the same way about 'The Laughing Pig'—I mean my job there, and my good salary—but when I knew that Freddie really wanted me after all, wanted to marry me, nothing but him mattered any more."

"And what connection has that with me?" asked Ann.

"Why darling—"

Bernice's eyes widened dramatically—"Aren't you in love with Paul Bradley, your sales-manager or whatever it is he called? I think he's perfectly gorgeous-looking! I mean, next to Freddie, of course!"

Ann flushed, contrived a light laugh.

"Of all the romantic geese you're the worst, my dear sister! He's my boss, that's all he is. The merchandise-manager."

"Well, he'll boss you around plenty once you're married to him, Ann. But that's the kind you need to make you happy. A woman has to be bossed. I think he'd make a divine husband."

Useless to argue this, useless to protest. Bernice was in prophetic, dreamy condition. Probably due to the blessed event anticipated in the not-too-distant future.
